

Considered by industry leaders to be the preeminent transportation law firm, Scopelitis, Garvin, Light, Hanson & Feary is the only full service, multi-office law firm in the country dedicated to transportation and related industries. The Firm's more than 5,000 transportation-related clients span the country and around the globe. Firm clients range from most of the major Fortune 500 transportation companies to many smaller, family-owned businesses.

With offices strategically located in many major cities throughout the United States to meet the needs of our national client base, the Firm offers advice and counsel to companies in virtually every segment of the transportation industry including:

Motor Carriers • Private Carriers • Shippers • Warehouses • Private Equity Investors Logistics Companies • Trucking Insurers & Insurance Brokers • Industry Associations

Because Scopelitis attorneys, individually and collectively, have worked with a laser focus in one arena for decades, the Firm can be nimble in its ability to evolve with the industry and our clients' needs. Scopelitis began as a regulatory law firm in the 1970s and has grown to have over 35 practice areas, including:

Corporate Structure and Strategy	Independent Contractor Counseling & Litigation Defense
Class Action Defense & Complex Litigation	Litigation of Business Disputes
DOT Regulations & Federal and State Authorities, Licensure and Specialized Taxes	Transportation Taxation
Insurance & Risk Management	Mergers & Acquisitions
Labor & Employment	Brokerage & Non-Asset Logistics
Highway Accident, Wrongful Death & Personal Injury	Warehousing Legal Liability
	Cargo Claims & Freight Disputes

When advising clients, Scopelitis attorneys draw upon their vast experiences counseling companies in the transportation industry. We are actively engaged in the industry to ensure we offer in-depth, current, innovative, business-minded solutions. Such involvement includes working closely with many transportation-related organizations, presenting on cutting edge topics to transportation-industry audiences of all sizes, sponsoring events and initiatives, serving on committees and boards, publishing articles, attending conferences, interacting with members of the media, and more.

Scopelitis attorneys are committed to accessible, responsive service, including a 24/7/365 approach to client relationships. Our attorneys are readily available to assist clients when the need arises. Whether clients require answers to pending legal questions or need direction on preventative strategies before problems occur, Scopelitis offers knowledgeable, efficient, and practical advice on virtually any issue in the industry.